Summer 2016

Introduction to Beekeeping Workshop

If you've been thinking about keeping hives of honeybees in the Flagstaff area, now is the time to get serious and to do it: backyard beekeeping is now legal in Coconino County and Flagstaff. To succeed in beekeeping, you'll need some instruction and hands-on experience. Taught by Dr. Patrick Pynes, the four classes in this workshop will answer the following key questions and more:

- What makes beekeeping in the Flagstaff area different from other places?
- What kind of hive should I use?
- Where do I get the bees?
- Where do I place the hive?
- How do I take care of the bees?

This workshop consists of four different classes, each lasting five hours. The classes will take place in a private home and apiary in East Flagstaff. We will also be visiting and working with beehives in other Flagstaff locations and in upper Oak Creek Canyon. The workshop will be limited to 12 participants.
